Jerry Cans During Bushfires

DFES has received numerous reports of petrol erupting from jerry cans when firefighters have opened them.

Three of these events resulted in the ignition of the released fuel, with one occurrence causing significant burns to a firefighter's hands and another resulting in a light tanker being destroyed by fire. Two other events resulted in fuel spraying into firefighter's eyes.

Due to the recurrence and potential severity of the outcomes, a procedure has been developed for refuelling static motors, such as the pump motors on fire tankers or generators, at incidents involving fire.

Refueling Static Motors at incidents operational personnel are directed to remove Jerry Cans from ALL Career and Volunteer Light Tankers on arrival at an Incident and place the Jerry Can at either;

- A control point;
- With your additional appliance responding to the incident (other than a Light Tanker); or
- In a shaded area that will not be impacted by fire;

Static motors are not to be refilled under any circumstances from a Jerry Can that has come off the rear of a light tanker once the petrol powered pumpset/ static motor has been running for any period of time.

If the Jerry Can has been left on the appliance during operations, the Jerry Can must be allowed to cool for a minimum of 4 hours prior to opening.

It may be necessary to attend a garage to refuel the petrol powered pumpset should the 4 hour cooling period not have expired. Oncoming crews must be advised of the number of hours before the crew can use the Jerry Can from the appliance.

Whilst operating at an incident you are directed to return to either the control point, your appliance, or another fuel location to refuel the petrol powered pump set.

Incident Management teams are to ensure that Jerry Cans are removed at the control point and this Information disseminated to crews during briefings.

This is an interim measure to ensure the safety of crews. Other short term engineering controls are currently being considered for trial and an operational circular will be released in the near future to provide an update on these.

Swooping Magpies & Slithering Snakes

Magpies are widespread, conspicuous birds commonly seen around. Their breeding season is generally between August and December, lasting up to six to eight weeks and they are protective of their nest within a 100m radius. During this time the magpies may swoop what appears to them as intruders.

The following steps can be taken to avoid or reduce the impact of swooping magpies:

- Wearing of a wide rim hat and eye protection
- Don't look up
- Take an alternative route to your destination
- Wear a helmet if riding a bike or be taken via a car during the season
- Never deliberately provoke or harass a magpie as they become more defensive and have long memories.

Now that the warm weather is upon us this brings the snakes and other reptiles out and about, foraging for food. Generally the snakes are just as scared of us as we are of them. Snakes are very mobile at the moment and generally will not stay in one location for too long.

The following steps can be taken to avoid and reduce the impact of snakes around where we live and work:

- Ensuring that your bird and chicken enclosures are regularly cleaned
- Controlling of any mice or rat problems
- Be aware and take care in bush land and grassy areas
- Walk and /or cycle on cleared areas only
- When out bushwalking, wear long trousers and boots or other enclosed footwear that preferably covers the ankles to reduce the risk of being bitten
- Keep a watchful eye on the ground about a metre ahead of where you are walking and avoid entering areas of long grass, rushes and undergrowth
- Spring clean time around the house, property and or work place by keeping your yard clean of long grass (lawns mowed low) and items that provide cover such as stacks of timber, rocks, corrugated iron, compost heaps or discarded household items
- Dog owners are urged to take extra care when walking their beloved pets, as dogs rarely survive a venomous snake bite unless veterinary treatment is given as soon as possible, which is a long way
- Ensure that there is little opportunity for snakes to enter your home by keeping doors shut, fitting weather seals to doors and blocking any gaps or cracks

Harvest Road Safety

Harvest brings more grain trucks on our gravel roads, take care, be aware of other roads uses and road signs. Don't drive in the dust from the vehicle in front, slow down, there is no way of knowing what else is in that cloud.

All road users be aware of shire maintenance vehicles on roads in your area throughout harvest.

- Dust impairs vision increasing the risks of accidents.
- Abide by road signs and do not speed.
- Vehicles seen driving without caution will be reported.

Always be aware of what is behind you and ensure that any traffic will not collide with you if you slow down in a dust cloud.

Be cautious, considerate and aware at all times.

Rubbish Disposal Costs

Memories

'How old do you need to be before you are a senior?' There is no one answer, but in most circumstances a Seniors Card is available to Australians aged 60 and over who are not working full-time.

Seniors week is from Sunday 8 to Sunday 15 November with Seniors Day becoming an annual event for the Shire of Lake Grace. In 2014 it was held at Lake King this year it was in Lake Grace, next year, well our thinking caps are on.

Tuesday 10 November and 24 people were on board the bus before 8.30am ready to leave to Bevan and Vynka Lay's farm about 5km from town.

Bevan and Vynka have a fantastic display of old tools, handmade tools, machines and vintage inside and outside equipment. As the seniors wandered around they talked about how their parents had this (milk separator) and how as youngsters they used to do the chores using that tool then as adults what they used to have in their home, memories was the name of the day.

Morning tea was beautiful, supplied by Vynka and she spoiled us with homemade sausage rolls, sponge cakes and scones jam and cream. Sitting under the varandah was so pleasant with the cool breeze coming through and looking over the expanse of farmland.

A short walk to the bunker and there were more treasures to be found. This place is cool in summer and warm in winter, perfect for storing all kinds of preserves, also bringing back memories with the old wire bed and having a kapok mattress.

Above: Morning tea on the varandah

Memories

All too soon it was to lunch at the Walker Hill Vineyard, with our expert driver Kevin Seaman at the wheel.

We were greeted by Tania Bray who supplied a superb lunch which everyone asked how to make the beetroot salad. It was noticed there have been changes made with lawn growing and an old truck becoming an outside bar and an old vehicle in the developing reception area.

Sitting back after lunch we all enjoyed Australian poetry read by Steve McPherson. His passion for poetry began while shearing in outback New South Wales when he first arrived from New Zealand. There were no radios in the sheds then and the Australian shearers would recite poetry while working. It was a fanatic way to complete the day, thank you to all those who made it a success.
